Disposable Income Challenge

THE CHALLENGE

Most of us have more disposable income than we think. Think about all the times you stop for coffee or rent a movie in a given month. What if, instead of spending money on those non-essential items, you put it towards something else—something with eternal impact? We want to give you the opportunity to do just that!

Would you consider sacrificing something in your monthly spending in order to give generously towards the Immeasurably More building project?

Below is a simple exercise to do as an individual or with your spouse (or with your Community Group). Add up how much money you spend in a month on the following items (you may think of more as you go). Then, prayerfully consider giving that amount towards the building project for an agreed-upon length of time.
